FESTIVE
LONDON AFTERNOON TEA

Welcome to our London themed afternoon tea.
Relax and enjoy our delicious homemade sandwiches and exquisite sweet treats prepared by our talented chefs.

The tradition of afternoon tea is a quintessential custom and part of English history that began in 1840 with a close friend of Queen Victoria, Anna Russell, the seventh Duchess of Bedford.

This was at a time when the evening meal was eaten at 8pm.

Anna began requesting some tea, bread and butter and cake around 4pm to satisfy her 'sinking feeling'.

This request became a habit of Anna's and she started inviting friends over to join in as well.

When Anna came to London she brought the ritual with her and Queen Victoria herself loved the idea.

The tradition took off and became the popular occasion that it is today.
